Food in the South.

Recent news from the Confederate State represent their armies as short of food; but a Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, under d. pril 1st, sees 110 danger to the South from that cause, and 'n the following remarks shows that short , ations can only be of short duration :

the following remarks shows that short dators can only be of short duration:

"The condition of General Lee's arry is no doubt the sime as that of all other relet forces in the field. They are short of ford, and are living from hand to mouth, partly from the short supplies of the Richmond Quartermaster's Department, and partly upon what they obtain from foraging the already exhausted country around about them.

This feature of the rebel situation has revived the hope that they may be starved out; that it must be recollected they were in the same condition this time last year, and were more desperately pushed for supplies later in the season, yet they struggled through the period of scarcity until new and abundant crops came to their relief, and it is fair to presume the same will be the case this year. The lack of sufficient and suitable supplies for their armies can have no result upon the issue of the wrr, unless the scarcity amounts to famine, and the privations demoralize and disorganize the rebel forces. But there is no danger of famine, and though the scarcity amounts to famine, and though the scarcity and shown that the spirit of the Southern troops will not yield to any condition in regard to food short of actual starvation. The deserters who brought the reports of the scarcity and hard fare upon which Lee's gard to food short of actual starvation. The deserters who brought the reports of the scarcity and hard fare upon which Lee's army is now subsisting also assert that the circumstance has little or no damaging effect upon the spirits of the rebels, when, they say, are in as good fighting condition as ever, both in body and mind. From now until the Grst of June, this dearth of food in the South grst of dune, this dearth of food in the Sodin will continue, and the scarcity may become much greater, but unless supplies totally fail it will result in nothing favorable to the Union cause. The people and the armies will manage to live upon what they have, if it can be done until that time, when another second of plants will begin will manage to five upon what they have, if it can be done until that time, when another period of plenty will begin.

The wheat harvest begins in Central Virginia about the second week in June; in Southern Virginia about the first of that month; in North Carolina about the last of May, and in South Carolina, Georgia and the Gulf Sa'es, about the middle of May. By the middle of next June, a heavy wheat cropwill be gathered throughout all these States, and by the first of July the new grain will be gathered throughout all these States, and by the first of July the new grain will be gathered throughout all these States, and by the first of July the new grain will be gathered throughout all these states, and by the first of July the new grain will be gathered throughout all these states, and by the first of July the new grain will be gathered throughout all these states and by the first of July the new grain will be gathered the prospects of a heavy yield very promising. This is particularly the case in Central and South Virginia, south of Gordonsville, and west of Richmond, where large tracts of land formerly planted in tobacco, are now producing wheat. During the past Winter passengers traveling from Richmond to Lynch urg, and thence to Gordonsville and Staunton, state that every farm along the railroads was planted in wheat and rye, and that in some localities the cleared country was fairly green with the newly springing grain. This crop, when gathered, will replents the Southern flour market, and as there is but a two months' interval before harvest time, it is not likely that the rebels will starve in the interim. Assuming that, at this day, they are drawing that the rebels will starve in the interim. Assuming that, at this day, they are drawing upon their last resources for food, the soil, which yields to good and bad alike, is already coming to their relief with its bounteous preducts. The early fruits and vegetables of Spring will be produced in abundance in a flew weeks, and there can be largely used for food, and will be, if necessary, by the people in order to make the supply of breadstuffs last dor the wants of their armies until the sunmer harvests bring plenty to all. Any circumstances tending to cripple the strength of the rebels, and bring the war to a termination without further bloodshed, by convincing than that the rebels will starve in the interin the rebels, and bring the war to a termination without further bloodshed, by convincing them their efforts cannot avail, are most devoutly to be wished for; but no hope can be reasonably entertained that a temporary scarcity of supplies will have any such effect. They cannot be starved out as long as they hold the territory at present in their possession, and when that is wrested from them by force of arms their defeat will be complete." Last Hours of the California Legislature In the editorial correspondence of the San Francisco Bulletin, the following sketches are given as the last scenes in the Legislature : given as the last scenes in the Legislature:

A huge budget of bills was forced upon the Governor on Friday and Saturday, and then aching was to be done but to wait for the Governor to sign them. Consequently there were several hours of Saturday and two of Monday when nothing was in order in the Assembly but disorder, and nothing but jokes were timely. That was quite to much, and the wit ran out before the time did. On Monday, the positively last day, Mr. Sanderson being in the chair, cigais were brought in, and members rose to new orders and fresh appeals, and the Chair decided appeals, all with eigars in their mouths. Even brandy smashes and mint juleps were cided appeals, all with eigars in their mouths. Even brandy smashes and mint juleps were tolerated, and the crowded lobby looked in on this "deliberative" body through a cloud of tobacco smoke. Frolic was the business of the day—but the mement a message arrived from the Governor or an item of actual business was to be transacted, the disorder was quelled, the cigars were laid aside, and the work was done in a workmarlike manner. Some of the jokes were good, some were rather coarse and strong. Punning on each other's names was played low down and out. Yule was given liberty to change his name to Mule, Duncambe to Buncambe, Scars to Ear, fall of which were good only verbally, for the Yule was given liberty to change his name to Mule, Duncombe to Buncombe, Sears to Earr, (all of which were good only verbally, for the changes were not indicative of character), Fitch to Itch, and at his own motion, he was referred to the committee appointed to scratch the Hog's Back for amendments. Some allusion was made to Fitch's promised suit against the Bulletin to recover a character. Dudley moved to strike out the cheracter. Dudley moved to strike out the cheracter. Speaker Sanderson ruled that Fitch's character was struck out long ago. Mr. Fitch caused a great deal of merriment by a very happy militation of the manner of Warwick, Fatten, J. W. Owen and Wright of Del No-te. Jack Watson sent up to the desk some inimitable portraits of members—of Banks running for Congress with plane, saw, chisel and spirit level on his back—of Gen. Collins, chairman of the Military Committee, sleeping on his post—of J. W. Owen's contraband barber of Santa Clara, etc. Some rea'y curious bills were introduced burl squing the franchise-grabbers of San Francisco. Mr. Wilcox sent up the following which was an admirable confession or the faith of Secesh Hollow, where he sat and with whose denivers he striged!

Hollow, where he sat and with whose deni-Hollow, where no saw zens he trained:
A bill is presented, both righteons and just.
Good sense says "support it;" says duty "you must."

But Reason and Conscience, I tid you adleu, It Banks ever votes for it; I'm d——if I do That Seeesh Hollow with its best intentions managed to make so little mischief, is the Assembly's great honor.

of the aborigines, they will not have been wholly unproductive of good. If through strongly the necessity of making the presence of the natives, and raise them in the scale of civilization, let us not have it said that we have made them worse; that we have been the instruments of reducing them lower than the brutes That the trouble has been and is the effect of suffering the infernal traffic in intoxicating liquors to be so long carried on almost with impunity with the Indians along our coast, admits of no denial. The natives know the pernicious effects of the article.

The native witness in the smuggling suit at New Westminster, the other day, when describing in his own tongue the terrible scourge the white men had brought among them, only echoed the scutiments of his race.

Knowing the evil, they are however powerless to avoid it. They have not of themselves the resolution to refuse the poison when within their reach. They drink, they rage, they murder-and they die, is the dark record of their history-and will be till they are extinct unless the strong arm of power is put forth in time to rescue them from so sad a fate. Preaching will not do,

Moral suasion is thrown away alike upon the whisky trader and his Indian victims.

We are wont to look back upon the days of Hudson's Bay Company rule as days of darkness-of utter stagnation-but are we much better off? Whatever may have been the faults of the monopoly in question, it made at least some effort to prevent liquor trading, and we have but little doubt succeeded as well in its object as we with our George Simpson, on behalf of the Company, entered into a treaty with Governor Etholine

Company use spirituous liquors in tratemptations to ergage in the trade are now great. The compound which we are inform-tum, is manufactured up North in the neighperhood of the market. The rate of barter is somewhat as follows-a martin skin repre-good bear skin one gallon; a beaver, half a gallon; mink, one pint; a sea otter skin worth say $50, is equivalent to eight blankets and ten gailons of tangle-leg. We can places by the Devastation in her late cruise gallons of alcohol; at Naass River sixty gallons of alcohol and seventy-two gallons of mixture just made. Now this trade has been going on for some time, and in spite of the recent seizures we have no doubt it is going on still. All along the coast there are depots for the purpose of forwarding the

The neighborhood of Point Roberts do not possess. But we think there are means of putting a stop not only to foreigners but to our traders dealing in liquor. If they will persist in destroying legitimate trade, in giving fuel to feed the savage passions of the unfortunate natives, and thus endangering the lives of white semlers, why then our present laws are altogether too mild. What do men making such enormous profits-men backed up by wealthy merchants-care for a fine of a few hundred dollars, or the confiscation of their vessel? Why such a punishment is a mere nothing to them. Their business is like the slave trade; one successful trip out of three will clear them a handsome profit. Now the thing required is punishment that cannot be bought off with money. The chain-gang and cat-o'-nine tails for instance, would no doubt operate in a most salutary manner in making whisky traders turn a penny in a less objectionable traffic. There is no need of their engaging in the business; there is ample scope for them in pushing a trade that would there are any settlements. Full power and full instructions should be given them to search out and bring to justice those in their jurisdiction engaging in unlawful trade. For this purpose we think something might be done at Nanaimo, as it is quite possible for vessels to clear from here for that place without liquor and take it on board there. The Government, no doubt, see the folly of any further neglect of this matter; it is to be hoped, therefore, that they will not stop at what has already been done, but that the attention of the Legislature shall be called

Arrival of the Otter. GREAT NEWS FROM CARIBOO. $55,000 in TREASURE.

The steamer Otter, from New Westminster. arrived yesterday at 6 30 p. m., bringing about 30 passenger and $55,000 in gold-dust and bars. From Mr. Birkett, of Ottawa, Canada, who has just come down from Cartiboo, we have the following important intelligence:

Mr. Birkett left William's Creek on the 28th ultimo, reached Lillooct on the 10th day, was detained one day at Beaver Lake, half a day at Pempherton a day and a helf substitution or a suspicion of any such a result of such violation, or a suspicion of any such a lay at Pempherton a day and a helf substitution is was forther directed.—That on the arrival of any such arms directed.—That on the arms directed.—That of any such arms directed.—That on the arms directed.—That on the arms directed.—That on the arms directed.—That of any such arms directed.

Barker's claim was yielding about 100 ounces a day. The Cameron claim 75 to 100 ounces. Hard, Curry & Co's. claim had not been making such big hauls as of late, but our informant confirms the previous startling announcement of 102 pounds of gold having here taken out by them in 24 hours. It is a large or for any waters subject to the territorial or of any waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown, as satisfied to the territorial partners in this claim were literally worth their weight in gold.

The Canadian and other claims were yielding about the same as usual.

The Black Jack Company had got to the boundary line and come back to breast off.

HANDS, WAGES AND PROSPECTS.

There were from 1000 to 1200 hands on the creek, and our informant met about 500 on their way up. Alt those already on the creek had work, and there would soon be a beyond what may be necessary for her immediately and the creek had work, and there would soon be a beyond what may be necessary for her immediately and the creek had work, and there would soon be a beyond what may be necessary for her immediately and the control of lemand for labor. There was 5 fair supply of pravisions at the belligerent shall be permitted to take in supplying the provisions and other things. There was s fair supply of provisions at Richfield. Flour was quoted at $1; bacon, $150; bcans, $1. At the Forks flour was 50 cents. The stock was considered sufficient for present wants.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. Griffin was busy completing his saw-mill below the canon. It would be finished and ready for work by about the middle of May.

The lower town is increasing fast. Fresh buildings are springing up in various quarters. No work had been done above the cañon, as the hands were engaged clearing out the flumes to let the snow water run off.

THE WEATHER. During the last week preceding the departure of our informant, the weather was delightful. Snow was still about four feet deep, but thawing fast. The water had risen about twelve inches in the creek, and this somewhat impeded the actual mining operations, as they were all busy puddling up their shafts. The rise of water had not as yet done any mischief. There was no snow on the road worth mentioning this side of Keithley's.

Mr. Birkett reports Wright's foad to be very good. He came in a buggy from Wil-liums Lake to Lilioset.

About 100 whitemen and 50 Chinamen were at work at Lake LA Hache. New houses are being put up at different points all from the melting snow.

The Gold Commissioners had not arrived up. Jumpers were causing much annoyance EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST—Sir:—Up to this, I have seen nothing much worth noting, except the neglect of the road between Chapman's and Boston Bars. Between those man's and Boston Bars. Between those points upon the road, there are some two or three cliffs in the line of road, that, with efficient establishments of workmen, will take an entire exaon to make them passable for traffic. Nevertheless, there is not a hand at work at one of these cl ffs. This state of progress is incompatible with the claims of the public. I was very much surprised at this oversight upon the part of the Superintending Department of Works. One of the things always done by efficient engineers is to attack the works first which consume most time in construction, so as to keep them in pace with the other works. time in construction, ...

Prince, iron frigate, of 6,108 tons, 1,000 horse power, and 40 guns, Captain Wainwright; Resistance, iron frigate, Captain Chamberlain, of 3,710 tons, 600-horse power, and 16 guns; and Defence, iron frigate, of 3,720 tons, 600 horse-power, Captain Augustus Phillmore, arrived at Spithead on the 21st, from Lisbon, and await orders from the Admiralty, expected, according to rumor, for the Nore. The general results of the cruise since the iron ships left Spithead, now come time since, for Portland and Lisbon, is stated to be most satisfactory. All the vessels have proved themselves good sea bents, are very weatherly under canvas, and are fast under cittler sail or steam. The chief trials since Horses on the road were plentiful and cheap $75 to $100. A train of 50 was met at the 38-mile house from Lillouet.

The main deek guns have been cast loose occasionally and worked at sea, and on occasion, the day being specially selected to test the working of the guns under the most unfavorable circumstances, when she were for the first lake was placed out from each ship, and firing carried either sail or steam. The chief trials since bars were were bent in several instances, many guns threatened to get adrift, and other similar contretemps occurred, but none of the guns were lost overboard, and all were at length secured, and the morning's practice passed over without any serious accident. The Warrior and other from ships require docking, in order to clean their bottoms. They left Lisbon on the 16th inst., and experienced fine weather up to the time of an choring at Spithead. The passage has been made easily at reduced power. In coming up the Channel, the Revenge, Warrior, and Black Prince were steaming with half-boiler power, and the Defence and Resistance with full power, the rate of steaming of the whole fleet being 11½ knots.

TALL TALKING .- Some time last year, says the Sacramento Union, the Richmond (Va.) Canadian, Black Jack, Cameron, and Barker companies. The Welch Company have als struck a splendid prospect, enabling two of the shareholders to self out at the nice sum of $16,000 and $18,000 to the slave. One of these fortunate individuals is a Canadian named Birkett, from Ottawa, who came out last spring, and now takes his pile and starts for home.

Canadian, Black Jack, Cameron, and Barker companies to the possession of the people struck a splendid problem in the special manner of the possessione gentlemently at talent for war. It said:

The fact is, the Yank better than the Chinese. Whig spoke of the people of the North in the following insolent manner. In the eyes of that paper the men of the loyal States do not possess one gentlemanly attribute, nor a single talent for war. It said: The fact is, the Yankees are very little better than the Chinese. They lay the same stress upon the jingle of their dollars that the Celestials do on their gongs. Originally en dowed with no single amiable art, they have cultivated the art of money-getting an say 102 pounds weight of gold in 24 hours. The jumpers, in the absence of a Gold Commissioner, are causing much annoyance, putting down their stakes wherever their fancy leads, and making a great bluster as to their intentions. The meanness of some of them is beyond comparison. One instance I will relate the theorem of the control of is beyond comparison. One instance I will relate: In the Cameron elaim was a share belonging to the late Mrs. Cameron, which was taken up and worked in her name up to the time of her death. This share Mr. C. naturally supposed he had a perfect right to retain after her decease, and was working it accordingly. While away on the sad mission of taking the remains of his late wife to literia for interment, this above-mentioned share was jumped, and by whom? By a share was jumped, and by whom? By a man that he had fed, supported, and kept from wanting the common necessaries of life for several weeks; afterwards giving him work so that he was able to earn some $300. This was the man to make the trial. But the Modesty, like perfect honesty, is a scarce article now-a-days.

Looking glasses are not as correct at forty as they appear to us at twenty. A man who does not blow his own trumpes has not usually got one to blow. "To err is human; to forgive divine," and he who cannot forgive should never err. Little minds are ruined by paltry successes. Gratitude is a lively hope of favors to come.

I am fully alive to the advantages we possess and its my anxious desire to forward our interests, particularly railroad and harbor enterprises; to watch and guard against corruption and misgovernment; to see that qual rights and cheap administration are preserved; that law costs and lawyers are looked after, without permitting to them exclusive privileges or business monopolies; that the merchant, tradesman, mechanic and artizan is protected and supported; land granted free, or at protected and supported; land granted free, or at

There are many other public questions of great importance upon which I will speak hereafter, as they cannot be referred to within the limits of this address, but if you see fit to honor me with your confidence and support, you may rely that for neither inducements of office or patronage, no printing or other jobs will pass without exposure. And should it not be your pleasure to elect me, I will support cheerfully whomsoever you think fit octed, so long as they follow a line of policy similar to that I have here laid down.
